So how much is the federal government investing in the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA)?
Congress has proposed allocating $162.25 million to the NEA in FY2020, which has been relatively level for the last several years. This amounts to just $4 per capita, yet the nonprofit arts industry generates over $13 billion in federal tax revenue back to the treasury. Imagine what nonprofit arts groups could generate with $1 per capita!

What about Kansas—how much does state government budget for the arts to the Kansas Department of Commerce each year?
The state allocated $500,000 to the Kansas Department of Commerce. In FY 2019-20, the Department also received $642,800 in federal NEA funds, which the Department re-granted to dozens of cultural organizations throughout the state. Another $230,000 in non-profit arts organizations received direct grants from the NEA.

KANSAS ARTS FACTS

IN THE SUNFLOWER STATE, THE ARTS UNITE US

The Strategic Investment and Arts Integration Programs recognize the important role individual artists and creative organizations play in building and sustaining cultural and economic vibrancy in Kansas.

THE ARTS ARE EVERYWHERE!

- Visit The Nerman Museum of Contemporary Art to see why Johnson County Community College was named one of the top 10 campuses in America for art by Public Art Review.
- Proceed west to downtown Lawrence and visit one of several arts organizations, venues, studios and installations. Then go to the capital city to see the growing collection of the Topeka Mural Project, a public art partnership between the arts community and the local police department.
- During the summer, head towards Chace County to hear the Symphony in the Flint Hills, an annual celebration of classical music and ecological presentations set amongst the rolling hills of the prairie. Then go to Salina for the Smoky Hill River Festival to buy art from one of the largest and longest running arts festivals in region.
- Further west, visit the small town of Lucas, a rural community of 300 that was dubbed the Grassroots Art Capital of Kansas.
- Back down south, catch a screening at the Tallgrass Film Festival in Wichita, named by Moviemaker Magazine as one of 50 Film Festivals worth the entry fee, or stroll through the Ulrich Museum of Art outdoor sculpture collection at Wichita State University, the state’s second entry on the top 10 campuses in America for art by Public Art Review.
- Finally, celebrate the power of theatre and hear a staged reading of new works at the William Inge Theatre Festival in Independence, where past honorees have included Neil Simon, Arthur Miller, and August Wilson.
